Committee

CONSTITUTION PLANS

Reorg Chairman Tours State
To Collect All Ideas
And Advice

A plan, suggesting that the present athletic council consisting of a majority of faculty members and three alumni be changed to an athletic advisory board consisting of the state governor, University president, alumni president, four faculty members and two students, was presented to the Reorganization committee at its first meeting Tuesday in Dr. Frank L. McVey's office by football players Sherman Hinkle and Dick Robinson who were assisted in outlining the new constitution by Lt. Col. B. E. Brewer, James Shropshire, and Bernie Shively.

The proposition also called for a non-coaching athletic director who would be responsible only to the University president and who would organize an athletic chain that included athletes to enter U. K. instead of enrolling at some other institution. This move was prompted by the lack of available and competent players who could have acted as substitutes frequently during the past gridiron season. The athletic director would be chosen by the University president and he would be head of the athletic department of the College of Arts and Sciences.

In the proposal was the statement that the athletic director should be "in charge of all athletic activities advised in carrying out these policies by the athletic advisory board... receive, deposit, and disburse all monies of the Athletic association by voucher through the University Business office."

Faculty members of the proposed board are to serve four years with one new man appointed each year. When a facultyman retires he is ineligible for reappointment. Students are to serve two years. One senior and one junior will be appointed if the board is formed. An appointed to the board were: Dean Pettus, Lt. Col. B. E. Brewer, James Shropshire, Bernie Shively, Roger Brown, men's student council prexy; Berkeley Bennison, ODK chief; Dean Funkhouser, who took no part in the discussion; and Prof. W. R. Sutherland, who was invited by the football players.

Professor Ligon, reorg chairman, stated that the next meeting would be held February 3. During this week and next Ligon will attend alumni caucuses in several cities throughout the state. At that time all plans and complaints will be recorded and discussed.

Chairman Ligon said that the football players report was "sensible and well thought out."

Professor Ligon insisted that perhaps the present council might reject whatever recommendation the committee should suggest. But Doctor McVey intervened by saying the council will do what the reorganization committee recommends.

MUIR RESIGNS

University's athletic jumble was complicated further Wednesday when Wallace Muir, prominent Lexington attorney and veteran member of the athletic council, turned in his council resignation to Pres. Frank L. McVey.

Business pressure was given as the cause of his action. Doctor McVey has yet to take to accept Muir's resignation.

Mr. Muir said, "My resignation was not the result of any friction or dissatisfaction, and I feel sure that the present athletic flare-up will be ironed out agreeably in a short time."

When reorganization chairman M. E. Ligon called for new plans and advice Mr. Muir was one of the first to offer remedies.

One recommendation Muir made was that the school should appropriate $25,000 a year to pay salaries to athletic department employees. He claimed it is impossible to compete in the big time when funds are not available to promote a formidable athletic program.

Continuing he asserted that coaches should be hired not by contract but by the year. Abolishment of the council was another suggestion. He also advised loosening the strict scholastic requirements for entrance into the University. This, he said, prevented

Mrs. Roosevelt Invited To Attend Ag Convention

Separate Programs Planned
For Twenty-Sixth Annual
Farm And Home
Meeting

With many outstanding speakers and agriculture authorities scheduled for its numerous sessions, among them Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the twenty-sixth annual Kentucky Farm and Home Convention will be held January 25-28 at the College of Agriculture.

Mrs. Roosevelt, with whom only tentative arrangements have been made, will probably address one of the afternoon sessions in Memorial hall Wednesday afternoon, and speak again that night at a mass meeting in the Alumni gymnasium.

Two separate programs have been planned; one of special interest to men, to be presented in the Judging pavilion at the experiment station farm; and the other, comprising the women's sessions, will be held in Memorial hall.

Among the speakers scheduled for the men's division are Dr. Walter C. Lowdermilk, associate chief, soil conservation service, U. S. department of Agriculture, Washington, who will talk on "Soil Conservation and the Public Welfare;" Dr. Frank L. McVey, who will speak on "Some Problems Raised by World Conditions;" and George D. Lampert Speaks
At Meeting Of Research Club

The Research club, an organization of faculty members carrying on research work on the campus, held an open meeting Thursday night, January 20, in the auditorium of the Education building. The subject of the meeting was "The Place of Music in Kentucky Culture."

Prof. C. A. Lampert, head of the music department, was the principal speaker of the program. He discussed the "Influence of the Folk Lore of the Appalachian Mountains on the Music of Kentucky."

Dr. William van de Wall, told of the recent progress on the part of the Carnegie community music study of the function of the music department in its relation to the other schools and colleges of the University. He discussed the formation and testing of the foundation plan of instruction of community music.

New ideas on music as a function of education with emphasis on the student rather than the material were described by Dr. van de Wall.

A portion of Dr. van de Wall's speech was devoted to the proposed reorganization of the music department to comply with the standards of the National Association of Schools of Music. The benefit to students after graduation from the music department will be that their efforts to secure employment will be backed by fact that they will have received instruction in a nationally recognized school of music.

Concert Band To Make Bow On Sunday Vespers Program

Mary Louise McKenna, Sam
Rainey To Be Featured
As Soloists On Program

Making its first local appearance of the current season, the University concert band, under the direction of John Lewis, will present a program of nine contrasting compositions at the next vespers service at 4 p. m. Sunday, January 23, in Memorial hall.

Two local soloists who will be featured on the program are Louise McKenna, soprano, who will sing "A Heart That's Free," by Robyn, and Sam Rainey, who will play a cornet solo entitled "La Coquette," by Belstead. Rainey was formerly a student of Frank Simon, noted instrumentalist of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Composed of 60 students, many of whom were awarded the rating of "superior" in the Kentucky high school Music Festival during their high school days, the band is considered one of the best in the south. It is made up of musicians taken from the famed "Best Band in Dixie," which played for Wildcat football games and several F. O. T. C. games during the Fall of last year.

Lewis' band work is well known throughout the South, both in the military and concert fields. He ranks as an outstanding band director, and his groups have won high commendation on many occasions.

The program, which features the music of several modern composers as well as that of the immortals, is as follows:

LT. COL. BREWER WILL LEAVE UKY

Transfer Will Conclude Six
Years Of Successful Work
At University; Triplett,
Scudder Retained

"Due to rotation in assignment," Lt. Col. B. E. Brewer, professor of military science and tactics, will leave the University at the conclusion of next semester after serving the school for six years, the military department announced yesterday.

Colonel Brewer will be succeeded by Lt. Col. Thomas F. Taylor, now an instructor at Fort Leavenworth who will arrive at the University May 1.

The War department permits an officer to tour at one post for four years. In view of Colonel Brewer's admirable work here he was allowed to overstay his appointment two years.

Majors Scudder and Triplett, who complete four years of service at the University this June, will be retained here for another year, Colonel Brewer stated.

"When asked where he will take up military residence after leaving Kentucky, Colonel Brewer answered, 'Panama, Hawaii, Philippine Islands, Alaska, or somewhere in the United States.'"

Incoming Colonel Taylor is a native of Tennessee, married, and has three children. He graduated from West Point in 1915, Infantry school in 1927, Command and General Staff school in 1928, and the Army War College in 1934. Since then he has served at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. Colonel Taylor has an efficiency rating of "Superior."

Since coming to the University, Brewer advanced in rank from major to lieutenant colonel and has supervised the Pershing Rifles who have won five consecutive fifth corps area drill contests.

Randall And Evans

Dean Alvin E. Evans and Prof. Frank N. Randall, of the College of Law, have been appointed members of committees of the American bar association, it was announced yesterday.

Professor Randall is a member of the committee on improvement of legal procedure for assessment, levy and collection of municipal taxes on real property. In connection with the committee work, Professor Randall has begun the preparation of a study of tax foreclosures and tax titles in Kentucky.

Dean Evans is a member of the committee on local legislation and a committee on legal education. One of the duties of the first committee is to report on the local municipal legislation of those states which are holding legislative sessions this year. Kentucky is included in this list.

Semester Swan Song "College Night" Is Scheduled For Strand Theatre Tonight

A double feature bill, "Souls at Sea," starring Gary Cooper, George Raft, and Frances Dee, and "Live, Love, and Learn," with Robert Montgomery and Rosalind Russell, is scheduled for the regular weekly College Night, starting at 8 o'clock tonight at the Strand theatre.

With Robert Montgomery as a struggling artist, and Rosalind Russell as a wealthy society debutante, "Live, Love, and Learn," is chuck-full of love and light humor, with Montgomery playing his usual whimsical, light-headed role. In contrast, "Souls at Sea" is a gripping, thrilling drama of love on the high seas, with Cooper cast as a hard boiled, courageous seaman, and Raft as his glib-tongued partner.

In addition to the feature pictures, the program includes a short by Roger Wolf Kahn and his band, and a cartoon comedy, "She Was an Acrobat's Daughter." As a special added attraction, an eighteen-year-old "Fatty" Arbuckle silent comedy will be shown. Displaying

WEST VIRGINIANS SOCK 'CAT MITTS

Mountaineers Tag Two Blues
With Knockouts In Scoring
5-3 Victory Over Kentucky
In Opening Slight

Wildcat flatcufters climbed up into the West Virginia mountains Tuesday, then hurried home victims of a 5-3 drubbing at the gloves of the Morgantown Maulers. It was the opening leather party, for both clubs. About 2,000 fans, hangers-on from the West Virginia-Temple basketball game which preceded the bouts, watched the punch show.

Each squad forfeited a match. In the 175 pound class the Mountaineer representative, glanced at Nick Lutz on the scales and surrendered. In the heavyweight division Kentucky forfeited because her gladiator, Frank Winchester, was floored in Lexington with bronchitis.

Sabo started the contests with excitement when he scored a technical knock out over Wildcat Granger, who danced through the first round competently, weakened in the second, and collapsed in the third when socks came from all directions.

Paul Dudbin, decorated with a black eye, dropped a close decision to Miller. It was the only Blue-blood judgment of the night.

In the 135 and 145 pound sections Posey and Chambers tallied clean-cut wins over Stoner and Grissinger. Chambers connected with several jaw-wrecking rights. The score stood at two-all.

Shanklin, Kentucky's intramural favorite, dished a sound beating from Freville who slapped Shank to the canvas in the second round. Trainer Striplin pitched in the towel although Shanklin claimed later that he was taking a nine-count.

Next was the 165 brawl in which Kentucky's Joe Moore was rapped by Captain Littlepage of the Vuh-ginians. And the count stood 4-2 in Hill Bully favor.

The following was an exhibition between Mountaineer Hinkle and Lutz. It was a lifeless, dull plod and the spectators hooted during the three rounds. Hinkle won the ref's nod.

Kentucky flattered a point in the 175 weight by forfeit and West Virginia added in the pachyderm group likewise.

Coach Frank Moseley, who is mending rapidly from an appendectomy, announces the 'Oats have scheduled a match with Tennessee. He hopes to card a few home sock exchanges by next semester.

Faculty Will Hold Annual Dinner Hop

The annual Faculty club dinner dance will be held at 9 o'clock Saturday, January 29, in the University Commons.

A floor show, part of the evening's entertainment, will include dancers, orchestral novelties, Oscar Patterson's marionettes, the magician, Sturkey, and music by Della Beurs' orchestra.

Victor Portmann, assistant professor in the journalism department, is in charge of the entertainment committee.

Reservations may be made with Eddie Collins, attendant at the Faculty club.

SCIENCE FRATERNITY TO HEAR VESTERMARK

New developments in the methods of treating Schizophrenia, one of the more common mental ailments, will be discussed by Dr. S. Vestermark, of the Department of Field Studies in Mental Hygiene, in his talk, "The Present Status of Shock Therapy in the Treatment of Schizophrenia," at the meeting of Sigma Xi, science fraternity, at 7 o'clock Friday night, January 21, in Pence hall.

Dr. Vestermark will give an account of the insulin shock therapy type of treatment devised by Manfred Sakel, Austrian physician, in 1933. This treatment is still in an experimental stage and was not used with frequency in the United States until the fall of 1936.

KITTENS TO MEET
DU PONT MANUAL

Ninety-Piece Band Under Direction Of John Lewis To Play Between Halves

By MARVIN GAY

Prying off the lid of their conference card, Kentucky's defending champions, maddened by three consecutive Northern losses, expect to chalk up a win when they clash with Tennessee Volunteers in the climax of an all-star allurement tomorrow night in the Alumni gymnasium.

In a preliminary attraction which commences at 7 o'clock, the Kittens hope to extend their string of triumphs at the expense of the Louisville du Pont Manual high school cagers. Adding to the evening's gaiety, 90 pieces of the University band, under the direction of John Lewis, will play before and between the halves of the 'Cat-Vol tangle.

Although losing to three Yankee foes, the Rupsas avow that they will trounce the Vols. After splitting even in two engagements during the regular schedule last season, Kentucky trampled its traditional rival in the final of the Knoxville tourney to clinch the Big 13 title.

Tennessee's netters have an excellent record to date, but have not faced foes of the caliber encountered by the 'Cats. In their last game, Tuesday night, the Vols had little trouble in downing Little Sewanee.

The Wildcat force has been augmented by the addition of "injury racked" Walter Hodge, last season's star guard. The Whirley one put in an unexpected appearance Wednesday afternoon, and may be given a short workout during the fracas.

Coach McBrayer's small but speedy feltnes, as they more than doubled the score on the hapless Mountaineers in a previous conflict in the Falls City, probably will all but annihilate their opponents. Despite their having had no tilts since the Christmas holiday, the youthful five, consisting of some of the finest prospects in many a year, are in A-1 condition as they have been sent through several grueling practice drills.

After the Tennessee game Rupp's will take a short swing through Dixie, where they expect to fatten their won-lost average at the expense of two conference fives, as they tussle with Vanderbilt at Nashville, January 29, and Alabama at Birmingham, January 31.

YMCA Will Solicit At Registration

Members of the Y. M. C. A. cabinet will be at the registration desk during registration for the second semester for the purpose of giving every male student an opportunity to make a contribution to the Y. M. C. A. it was announced yesterday by Bart Peak, secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

"This is the second year that this has been done," said Mr. Peak, "and it takes the place of regular financial campaign among the students support of the Y. M. C. A. program on the campus."

Mr. Peak stated: "Every student is urged to give one dollar towards this work. This year it is going to be essential that the students donate liberally due to the fact that when the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. headquarters are moved into the new Student Union building, furniture will have to be supplied for the rooms."

"The committee has estimated that the cost will be more than $1,000 and all the money that is subscribed over this amount for the program will be applied to this fund for furniture. The Y. M. C. A. rooms will be available to every student and I hope each one will have pride in helping to furnish them."

Student Cooperation Necessary

STUDENTS of the rank of junior can recall when, during the process of registration, they had to wait in line for hours and then risk life and limb battling the mob that struggled to sign up for classes. THE KERNEL, anxious to alleviate this situation, proposed a system which was later adopted by the University, bringing up new order to the registration routine. That system has been in force for three semesters.

In order to successfully maintain the method, the cooperation of the student body is requested. In another part of today's paper appears a complete registration schedule. Consult this table and ascertain the allotted time for students whose names begin with the initial of your last name. Following registration, visit your dean's desk, and then list your classes. If the system is faithfully adhered to, it should take no student over an hour both to register and classify.

Because it desires to promote the efficiency of the method, and because it designed the plan now in use, THE KERNEL requests your cooperation. Any attempts to register or classify at an unassigned time will only be unsuccessful and will impede the progress of the task. Hence, THE KERNEL asks that you follow the rules.

Exams And Grief

AS MID-YEAR examinations loom closer and closer, students frequently leaf back through their semester's work and find it wanting. They find that, in effect, they must compile the tasks of an entire term in the period of a few days. An almost impossible feat, it is seldom successful and always extremely difficult.

Since it is too late to look to the past, resolve to avoid the repetition of the same mistake in the future. Take the next semester in stride, keeping abreast of responsibilities, and at its close you can review with satisfaction the weeks gone by, and face the prospect of finals with assurance. Nothing promotes good feeling with oneself more than the knowledge of work well done.

Advance Faculty Salaries

HIGHER education in America has become a big business. High finance has waved its magic wand over every phase of the university's activity. The methods and practices of business have been incorporated into the management of nearly every field of the university's existence, with astonishing results, indicative of their utility and practicability.

In one phase of its existence, however, the modern university has not followed the precepts for good management laid down by big business. Educators themselves are not paid in proportion to their importance in the educational procedure. Unless a return to the Platonic educational ideal is possible in this age, a university or college without a professoriat is inconceivable. Occupying a fundamental place in the organization of a university, a faculty should, logically enough, be well paid. Industry has always recognized and made a place for good men in its administration, and has absorbed a great many of the best educators in the various fields of big business, which, unfortunately, weakens the educational standards and ideals of the modern university.

The organization of present-day universities has followed the lead of big business, but administrators of the educational machine should incorporate completely into their business-like methods the rule which pays good men in proportion to their talents. Under such a system educators would stay in the educational field, and higher learning would then be truly worthy of the prestige which it now falsely possesses.—Daily Northwestern.

Scrap Irony

By HARRY WILLIAMS

WITH FINAL examinations in the immediate offing, we feel it our duty to bring you a little advice on how to pass them.

This advice first appeared in "Poor Richard's Almanack," and there ought to be something apropos in the Constitution of the United States which, we would say, is still pretty good (in spite of what other people are muttering):

HOW TO MAKE A FINAL EXAM

1. Enter the room armed with a pencil, a set of encyclopedias and a slate for figuring.
2. Grab a handful of quiz pads; pick a back seat that squeaks; and sample the questions.
3. Flip a coin to decide true and false answers. Throw dice to determine multiple choices.
4. Write a flattering character sketch of your professor. (Dale Carnegie says this can't fail, but did you read what Sinclair Lewis said about Carnegie?)
5. Rip out a couple of hundred quiz pad pages, make gliders out of them, and gaily shoot them across the room. (This kills time.)
6. Bring a drinking glass so the prof will believe you when you ask to get a drink.
7. Write answers illegibly so you can argue later that the answers were correct.
8. Read Niel Plummer's article entitled, "Is Cribbing Necessary?" in last July's College Humor. It contains some really grand schemes for outwitting the prof; especially the ones that were employed by the young ladies. They were fiendishly clever.

That quaint little building that stands so majestically between the College of Engineering and that other building north of McVey hall, (We really did try to find out its name, but no one seemed to know what we were talking about) had its door open yesterday. We have often wondered about that building, and yesterday our patience was rewarded. We present herewith a list of its contents:

Five transformers that make a buzzing noise.
Innumerable fuses (of the cartridge type, the man said).
Several automatic "Cut-out switches."
A man with a wrench.

Dr. R. S. Allen, of the department of physiology, said the other day that he didn't think students were as conscientious as they used to be.

What we have here is a masterpiece of understatement, for in the bright lexicon of youth there is no such word as conscientious. The modern student, if we may use the term, is concerned only with passing the course in which he is enrolled. He becomes conscientious when he sees that "E" though.

SIMILE OF THE WEEK:

(Dropped in conversation by Miss Ellen Schoene)

Her hankchiefs were as flamboyant as Indian diapers.

One day this past week we saw an old friend of ours in the Cottage. It happens that this friend of ours is also an old friend of Professor George White Fithian: went to school with him and all that. We know Professor Fithian won't mind if we print her description of him. She said, "George White reminds me of a baby robin."

"The educational spoon in America is handled by competent and understanding teachers but the students should do the feeding themselves." Dr. Alexis Carrel, ranking scientist, is interviewed by the Dartmouth student newspaper.

The band at the University of Illinois owns nine tons of tunes arranged by Sousa. At least 2,889 band arrangements, formerly belonging to John Phillip Sousa, are in the possession of the band. They weigh more than 18,000 pounds.

"There is little to be attained in thumbing a ride in the rumble seat of a college curriculum," warns Dean Guy Stanton Ford, acting president of the University of Minnesota. "It is not the business of a university to educate its students against their will. What you get out of college and out of life will be a measure of what you put in it."

Last week-end at Purdue males could not attend the free union tea dance unless they wore a flower presented to them by some coed. Each girl had two flowers to bestow. It was all part of the arrangement by which, for the space of three days, the men became the "weaker sex" as far as dating was concerned.

A break for the men at Ohio Wesleyan—coeds there are all in favor of limiting the number of corsages they expect to receive during the year. But, they want fewer flowers "so that the money can be spent attending more dances."

SIDESHOW

By DON IRVINE

TODAY the last classes of a waning semester will meet in nervous sessions, worried by the cumbersome prospect of an ordeal to come. There is not time for retrospection, though this passage of a definite part of life would merit it. Since last September one-eighth of the average college course has rippled away, full of events and emotions that are forever gone; lustrous with memories of happiness and discouragement. The weeks and months have brushed by and already we find ourselves in what was once a remote future. Time is like that. It omnivorously gobbles up the hours that lie ahead, and one day we shall suddenly find ourselves old, the future drained into the past, and naught but eternal night confronting us.

That rainy, sodden day at the Delt house when they bade Bob Freiburg farewell . . . remember sending the band to Boston? . . . splendidly enjoyable was the Saturday when the Wildcats downed Washington and Lee . . . "First Lady" . . . those amusing campus elections which were so deadly serious . . . the barrage of campus queens: Jane Potter, Jean Jackson, Mildred Croft, Leigh Brown et al . . . Thanksgiving and an effulgent Homecoming fiesta . . . the Kentucky dance . . . intramural wrestling and boxing, two ring circus of the athletic department . . . the shock of "Uncle" Enoch Graham's death . . . life made more difficult and yet more cheery by that unforgettable ice siege . . . the long hilarity and relaxation of Christmas vacation; its froth and glitter; the familiar faces: home . . . the terrific let-down of school routine in early January.

Thus did the incidents stream by as the semester's sands flowed out and day followed day in measured single file.

Reviewing the last few months must bring to your mind memories of both happiness and unhappiness. Perhaps the impending semester will do the same. And yet, there is no necessity ever to be unhappy. Preposterous, you say. No, it is not. The first requisite to happiness is that concept which accepts the belief that, no matter what happens, life is good. The simple fact of being alive is compensation for the darkest depth despair can reveal. For, even when you are at your most miserable, can you not sense the infinite majesty of living, the awesome wonder of the gift of awareness? At its grimmest, life is great beyond estimation.

Another aid to happiness is detachment from your discouragements and worries. Think of them. Dr. Johnson said, as you would think of them a year hence. Then you will realize how unimportant they actually are, and perhaps, even chuckle over them. What does it matter, anyhow?

To stay busy is to find contentment. The satisfaction of keeping ahead of responsibilities is invaluable. Whether with pleasure, or work, or both, keep busy.

Independence is an ingredient of happiness. Do what you want to do without deference to anyone, and accept no authority but your own for your thoughts and actions. Freedom and depression are never consistent with each other.

FSA HOLDS TRAINING SCHOOL FOR TENANTS

Held under the auspices of the Farm Security Administration, a training school for tenant loan advisory committeemen from five counties opened on January 18 to be held two days with headquarters in the Livestock pavilion.

Leaders of the training school were S. S. Landress and J. B. Slack, both of Raleigh, N. C. The counties represented by three men each were Johnson, Fleming, Pendleton, Shelby, Madison and Pulaski.

The Campus Gossip

By CHARLIE GARY

Billy Young evidently doesn't believe that "two's company and three's a crowd;" for Monday he escorted both Virginia Richey and Martha Hume to the SAE house for lunch, looking very unabashed about the whole affair.

The new song favorite of Di Di Castle is called the "Besmer Blues". It is to the tune of "Veni Veni" and goes "Didi, Didi, Didi, Didi, longing for you," as played by Jamie Thompson.

Phi Tau Guy Wainscott was very badly jilted last year by Kay Dee Jane Mitchell, and although he has called exactly ten times in the past two weeks, he has yet to get a date.

Charles Williams, better known as Dickey Byrd, left his wallet at home the night of the Delt Formal, and when his date, Billie Dyer, wanted a sandwich after the fray, he told her to forget it and "just drink a coke."

Delta Chi's Fred McLean and Bill Beatty, the latter a boxer deluxe, attended a house party in Newport last week-end and started showing their pugilistic powers to their hosts. They both received the worst end of the deal, however, especially Beatty who was teaching said hostess how to box and great was his horror when she flattened him with one blow.

The three gadabouts of Patterson Hall, namely Billie Vance, Marian Gardhouse, and Louise Watts, have done it again. Tired of straw colored hair they dazzled the campus Monday with a trio of reddish colored heads. They made one bottle of coloring do for the three of them, however, so the job wasn't very successful.

Emily Post's book on etiquette is very much in demand now, especially by the girls in the "convents," on Euclid and Lime. Reason—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will dine at the Hall on Wednesday. The nuns have even been instructed to remove all sign of red nail polish for the event, and also not to wear sunflowers.

Alfa sig Leroy Holtzclaw was getting over with quite a large number of co-eds, by handing them all the same line, until he made the mistake of dating roommates. His line went something like this, trade hi-school class rings with the girl, dinner dates at the frat house, and then ask them to go steady with him. When the roommates got together on the line, they called in some other Leroy's attractions, and did the fire burn!

Things to Wonder About
1. Why a Sigma Chi frosh was seen the other day with a text book under his arm.

2. If the Alpha Sigs will ever cut the noise so their neighbors, the honorable Pi Kaps can get some studying done.
3. If anyone has seen the new styled Phi Delt pledge pins which are being vended by the peanut machine at Brumfields.
4. If White Hall will still be standing in June.
5. Why a certain Sigma Nu was unable to keep his Sunday dinner date with Tri-Delt Betsy Covington.
6. If Johnny West can ever make a comeback with the fair sex. However, the Picaps want to know when did he ever make a hit with them.
7. If the Alpha Gamma Rho's are competing with the new Student Union building in regards to ground coverage.
8. Why "Speed" Foster bought a pair of eyebrow tweezers with a magnifying glass on the end of it.
9. Why Ann Trent blushes every time a swimming party is mentioned.
10. Why Vert Fraser takes a pole along with him every time he goes skating. (Look up Fraser's first name in the dictionary.)
11. Why did Tom Watkins cut class the morning after Delta Sigma Chi meeting.
12. Last but not least, why do we have exams.

The oldest form of gambling in the world is with dice. They are found in the ruins of almost every ancient nation.

INTRAMURAL

By JOE CREASON

With each man successfully finding the net for an average of 18.1 times in each 25 attempts, Delta Chi grabbed the victors' trophy in the free throw tourney contested Monday and Tuesday nights in the Gym Annex. Paced by Stokes, who found the hoop range with 23 flings out of a possible 25, Alpha Gamma Rho finished in the second niche by posting a group average of 17.9 good tosses per 25 tries.

As the free throw tournament is a team sport, Delta Chi, by amassing the winners points plus a number of markers added in the recent boxing and wrestling carnival, retained a chance of finishing high in the money for the year in total points. For Alpha Gamma Rho, the runner-up laurels more firmly entrenched them in the third position of the league standings. SAE tops the loop with Sigma Chi following in second place.

Fall Of Phi Taus

Passing into the semi-final stage, the ping-pong doubles competition more resembles Wednesday night at the Phi Kappa Tau abode than a tournament, as three combines—Evans-Wainscott, Theil-Montgomery and Terrell-Jacobs, represent that lodge in the semi-finals. Another Phi Tau team, Hickey and Tabeing, will tangle with the surviving SAE cohorts, Baker and Congleton, to determine who will occupy the remaining pre-final berth.

In the singles, Evans of Phi Tau, is as yet the only contestant to reach the semi-finals. Incidentally the win necessary to advance him to this position was at the expense of Terrell, a lodge brother. All quarter final matches are due to be recorded by January 21, with remaining engagement on docket for the advent of the new semester.

Handball doubles are likewise in the semi-final rounds, with the SAE team of Hopson-McConnell, Independents Haring-Combs and two Sigma Chi combinations of Sims-Hatcher and Bringardner-Sullivan constituting the field. Competition in the singles finds only Independent Combs and Bringardner, for Sigma Chi, in semi-final slots.

Frats In Net Preps

Meanwhile both Gym Annex basketball courts are nightly scenes of much perspiring and neglected muscle straining, as preparations for the hard-wood activity, due for a February 14 inauguration, are being pushed to completion. Fraternity managers are reminded to stop at the Intramural Office soon to check on file there—to see that no ineligible men are being used and to add the names of any new players to the team roster. Managers desiring squads, either in the Fraternity or Independent Leagues, are invited to do so but the names of the ten men allotted to each club personnel must be turned in to the Intramural Dept. before Feb. 4.

Bluefish Finvade Sou' eastern Pools

Kentucky's poolless swimming team, accompanied by Manager-Trainer Felix Murray, journeys on an ambitious five meet tour immediately after the completion of mid-term exams.

The 'Cats natadors, last season's Kentucky champions, encounter many of the finest outfits in the South. Arranged by Coach Sherman Hinklein, the schedule includes the following foes: Maryville, January 29; Tennessee, January 31; Georgia Tech, February 2; Auburn, February 3, and Georgia, February 4. The Georgia tilt was added to the card at the request of the Dixie school.

Making use of Eastern State Teacher college's pool at Richmond, the Wildcat swimmers have finally obtained recognition by the University Athletic Department. The 11 man squad athletes will make the tour in two automobiles.

SPEECH ON FAMILY COMPLETES SERIES

In "Planning Your Family," the last of a series of six lectures on marriage, held Wednesday afternoon in McVey hall, Dr. Carolyn Scott, Lexington physician, emphasized the desirability of planning the family so that each child would have equal chances for economic stability health, and normal recreation.

It was indicated, at the meeting in Dean Blanding's office, Wednesday afternoon, by the committee which planned this year's series, that there is desire on the part of the students to have these lectures constitute a course with University credit.

After all payments were made on the Gene Tunney-Tom Heeny heavyweight bout June 6, 1928, Madison Square Garden officials admitted a loss of "about two million dollars."

Magazine Editor Describes World Economic Status

Speaking on world developments in agriculture and other industries, Wheeler McMillen, of New York, editorial director of the Country Home magazine, addressed a gathering of agriculture and home economics students and faculty, Thursday morning in Memorial hall.

Mr. McMillen pointed out the differences between the productive levels in the United States and Europe. He attributed our leadership in the field to the superior productive means facilitated by the successful application of steam and electric power. European nations are handicapped, he said, because of their necessity to import much of their raw wealth: the United States gathers all its raw materials from the soil, the forests, or the mines. As a result of our advantage, the annual American income stands at $500 per capita, in sharp contrast to a $30 income in Europe. The perfect facilities of transportation in this country, he added, affords us the opportunity to gain the greatest returns for our investments. Development of steam and electric energy in Europe, together with transportation, has been relatively slow, and thus the large difference in returns, said Mr. McMillen.

The program, under the direction of Prof. L. J. Horlacher, of the agriculture school, also included a music recital by Miss Margaret Schnack, Emma Callahan, and Bettie Wyatt.

In the afternoon, McMillen and several members of the faculty were the luncheon guests of Dr. and Mrs. Frank L. McVey.

HE SELLS TOBACCO TO THEM ALL

But Branch Bobbitt, like so many other independent experts, prefers Luckies...

"AT AUCTIONS in my warehouse in Farmville, North Carolina," says Mr. Branch Bobbitt, "the higher the tobacco sells for, the better my profits. So I'm always glad to see Lucky Strike buyers in there bidding. They know what they want and they'll keep bidding right up until they get it."

"Well—in a cigarette—it's the tobacco that counts. I know tobacco and I know what tobacco is in what cigarettes. So that's one reason I've smoked Luckies for 5 or 6 years."

Mr. Bobbitt represents the "aristocracy" of tobacco experts. He judges the tobacco that the growers grow. He's impartial, not connected with any cigarette manufacturer.

Many other experts agree with Mr. Bobbitt. Sworn records show that, among independent tobacco experts, Luckies have twice as many exclusive smokers as have all the other cigarettes combined.

Most peculiar putout in a baseball game happened once in Washington, D. C. Babe Ruth lined a drive that ricocheted off first baseman Art Shires' shin, bounced over to Ossie Bluege, on third who threw Ruth out at first base, Buddy Myer, second baseman, running over to make the putout. Shires merely laid on the ground and shrieked.

BULL PEN

By GEORGE H. KERLER

VAN LINGLE MUNGO is always meat for a pre-slumber discussion. There is something about the Flatbush firebrand that provokes talk and speculation. For whom will he pitch this season? What will Brooklyn get for him? Could the Reds use him? Is his arm in shape? Let's see if we can answer some of the questions.

That Mungo is respected, as a pitcher, in the National league is proved by the fact that the Giants, Cubs, Pirates, and Cardinals have been dickering with the Brooks all winter in effort to nab him. The Cards are merely interested and have yet to extend an offer. If the Giants want Van, Grimes expects in return Mel Ott and Hank Danning. Such a swap would leave the Gothams without a consistently long hitter and a catches destined to become famous. Besides Danning is a Jew and in New York such a character fattens the coffers. But across the river Ott and Danning would give the Flock a total of four professional players, Manush and Hasset are already in the Brooklyn fold. Terry pooh-poohs such a demand and offers Hank Leiber and a pitcher. Brooklyn is wary about Leiber because the Arizona outfielder never has been the same since Bob Feller beamed him last April in an exhibition game. Evidently, then, the Giants won't get Mungo.

Most active toward Van Lingle are the Chicago Cubs. Recently, they sent an envoy to Brooklyn carrying an attractive proposition. Bruins offered Ripper Collins, Lonnie Frey, Clyde Shoun, Joe Marty and $75,000 for the petulant pitcher. The Cubber went home to the tune of A Thousand Times No. Brooklyn wanted Frank Demaree and cash. Doubtless, Grimes could have turned Collins into an outfielder again and profited on his long range hits. But Frey gives Flatbush fans the headache, Shoun has a seven-seven mound record, and Joe Marty was a sensational flop all last year. How strong is Collins' angle. Maybe that's why the Chis wanted to dump him off on someone. About the only luring part of the deal was the 75 Gs.

Pittsburgh offered Brooklyn Paul Waner for Mungo in a straight cashless deal. Waner is 35 years old and Mungo is 26. The Pirate star has been hitting over 300 for the last eleven years. He has led the National loop three times. But age might creep up and weaken his willow. Mungo should be at the summit of his strength. Besides, Ebbets Field needs a home run hitter and Waner never specialized in batting the pill into the bleachers.

So it seems the Brooklyn toga this spring. The front office has mailed him a contract for $15,000 but he'll probably hold out for back pay. He received the same amount last year but lost most of his coin in paying fines. Mungo has the habit of publicly making fun of his infielders, going on private excursions, and hiding in the South Carolina mountains. One night last summer $1,324 was clipped from his salary for insubordination on the field, disorderly conduct, fist fighting with his second baseman, and breaking $24 worth of hotel furniture. You get the idea.

However, Flatbush should keep her only famous pitcher. When Mungo is right no club can club him. All he needs are three runs and average support. There is no better picture to imagine than Mungo in form on the mesa slamming the ball over the plate with invisible speed. When strike-outs are counted Mungo is always near the top. But like all fast ballers, he also stands high in the base on balls item.

Exactly why other teams are trying to land him with fancy bait is a source of perplexity. His arm indicated weakness just before the All-star game. He should have been resting then but went down to the Capitol and faced the American barge. After that whenever he pitched it seemed like he threw the first seven innings with his arm and the last two with his heart. I can never forget one afternoon in Washington picking up a paper and reading a headline, "Mungo, Arm Dead, Sees End of Career."

It seems that the right process to follow, if these other clubs want him, is to watch Mungo pitch until May 15 when the trading deadline arrives. By then he will have pitched about five games and the world will know how he feels. Maybe he's through and doesn't know it and maybe his fin is right. Anyway it's a hard problem to decide.

Oh yes, could the Reds use him. Cincinnati could use anybody who can play ball. Brooklyn wants players for Mungo, not money. And who, outside of Ival Gooden and Ernie Lombardi, could the Reds offer. The Boner Boner yard (Ebbets Field) has enough awkwardness behind the plate in Babe Phelps.

Since June 1, 1925, when he pinch-hit for Pee Wee Wanninger, Lou Gehrig has played in every Yankee game to date. His consecutive game streak now stands at 1,965.

Mr. Muir also suggested that in the fall of 1939, Kentucky should meet some Big Ten institution in a football game on a Louisville gridiron, and that the basketball club should meet intrastate teams next season.

The resignation closes 18 years of service by Mr. Muir to the University. He was a member of the athletic council for 12 and was active in the alumni association before his appointment to the athletic cabinet.

The famed quartette, which steams out "killer-dillers" on the Camel Caravan, consists of: Goodman on the "agony pipe" (clarinet) — Gene Krupa on the "suitcase" (drums) — Teddy Wilson on the "moth box" (piano), and Lionel Hampton on the vibraphone.

BENNY'S "IN THE GROOVE!" Here's the "King of Swing"—Professor Benny Goodman—"kicking out." They "go to town" every Tuesday night. First on the double-feature Camel Caravan comes "Jack Oakie College." Then Benny Goodman's "Swing School." Time—9:30 pm to 10:30 pm E.S.T., over WABC-CBS.

"PUSHERS" getting in a few "licks" (short, original improvisations) on their "gobble-pipes" (saxophones). Benny Goodman and his Swing Band won the title of the most popular band in the country.
